

We now offer price matching.

We will only be price matching the actual building.

This will not include Anchors, Extra Material needed for snow or wind loads, Labor, Equipment, or Plans.

We will need a copy of the competitor's order to verify.

FYI:

Keep in mind, Climate Change is causing more severe weather events. You may want to increase your snow and wind ratings.

Make sure your competitor's estimate includes the proper snow load for your area. Most will leave that figure out to keep your cost low, but then you are not covered if your building collapses from heavy snow loads.

At American-SteelGarages.com I make sure your are covered and include the proper snow load requirements for your location.

Most standard garage builds are rated at 32 lbs. roof snow load. Which is adequate if your are located in the south.

You have the option to use the standard rating if you are satisfied with that and help keep the cost lower, but your warranty will not cover your building.
